

Legislative Update March 24, 2023

SECTION 1: GENERAL

It's official! Curling is now the official state sport of North Dakota. Governor Burgum signed the bill into law this week. In my 55-year residency of North Dakota, I've played a lot of sports. But never curling. Now I feel compelled to add that to my bucket list, maybe. Given the winter we're having (forget that it's technically spring), it seems like it should have been some kind of snow shoveling or ice chopping event. Or maybe a time trial of replacing shear pins on snowblowers. More of us can relate to that than curling. Good riddance, winter...whenever that might be.

I am happy to report that this will be your last update regarding SB 2217 which sought to prohibit charging interchange fees on the tax component of a credit or debit card transaction. The opposition coalition efforts in the House were successful in getting the bill watered down to a "shall consider" Legislative Management Study out of the House Finance and Taxation Committee. But that idea needed to die too, and we were able to convince enough lawmakers that no value would be derived from the study. The House voted 29-64 Tuesday on SB 2217 and it is dead! Hopefully, similar results are achieved in the many other states where retailers have brought such a measure. The interchange battle with retailers is far from over however as we know Senator Durbin is teeing it up again in Congress.

We've turned our sights now to opposing SB 2266 in the House. This is the credit union's field of membership expansion bill. After being heavily amended in our favor in the Senate, we still hate it and need to defeat it. It seeks to expand the current field of membership radius for a credit union charter (not branches) from 75 mile to 125 miles. Linearly, that's a 50-mile increase. But aerially, that's a near-tripling of their service area. The credit union association has spent a small fortune on this bill between lobby firms and a glitzy media campaign. It will be heard in the House Industry, Business and Labor Committee Wednesday morning at 9 am which will likely be a long hearing.

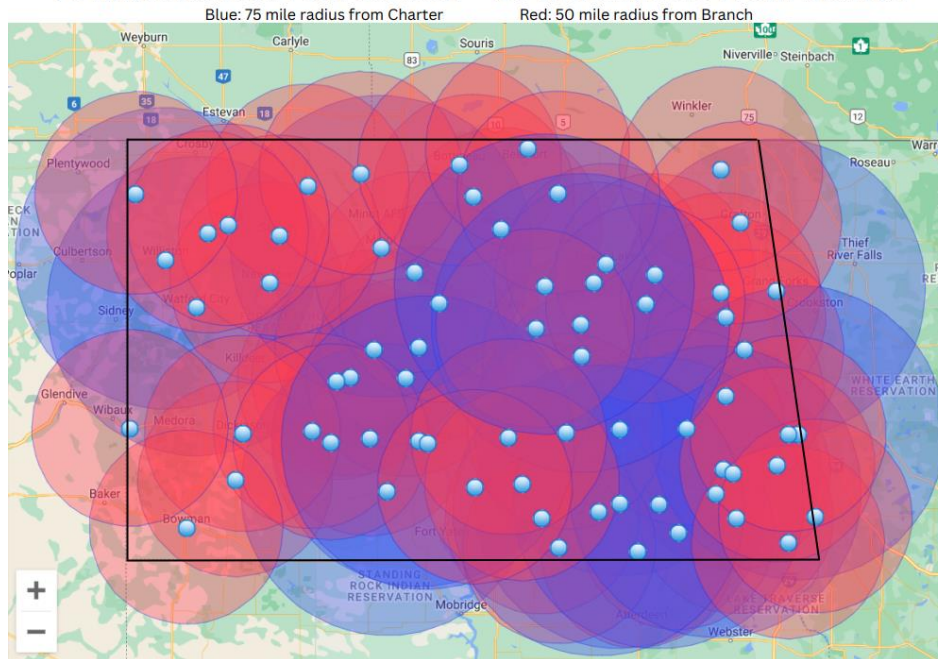

Testifying in opposition will be NDBA, Tim Karsky from Choice, Sarah Getzlaff from Security First, Jordan Nelson from Peoples State Bank of Velva, me and possibly others. The credit unions have disseminated gobs of sensational (and often false) propaganda about their sad story. As they repeat ad nauseum, "North Dakota is not open for business for credit unions", the graphic on the following page indicates otherwise. We are poised to try to convince the Committee and House members that this proposed expansion serves no good public policy need.

Our calculations estimate that in 2023 North Dakota-headquartered banks will pay an estimated $175 million in federal income taxes and nearly $30 million in state income taxes on their 2022 net income. The credit unions want to pick and choose the aspects of the century-old original mission that serves them best. They want to retain the exemption from state and federal taxes – who wouldn't? But they want to cast off the geographical limitations that were part of that bargain. We firmly believe they can't have it both ways. This battle will rightfully consume our activities for the next couple weeks.

If you've not already reached out to your Representatives, please do so by early next week! I guaranty they are hearing from credit unions across the state. Thanks for your help and have a great weekend!

SECTION 2: BILL UPDATES FROM ICBND “PRIORITY” TRACKING LIST

HB 1082 – is the the Uniform Law Commission bill which addresses several Uniform Commercial Code amendments. Many of these are related to digital assets which bring certainty, clarity, and uniformity as to the definition of “digital assets” and how to perfect security interests in digital assets. ICBND, NDBA, and the North Dakota Bar Association supported this bill throughout the process. After crossing to the Senate, however, there was significant opposition expressing concerns that the bill somehow endorses a central bank digital currency (CBDC). We certainly don’t believe that it does and even testified that ICBND and its members are on record opposing the idea of a CBDC controlled by the Federal Reserve. UCC laws are state laws that simply deal with the world as it is and has no part in determination by the federal government of any currency. Rather, it deals with providing a blueprint as to how to perfect a security interest in a digital asset if a bank chooses to accept digital assets as collateral. After passage in both chambers, the governor was heavily lobbied by certain far right groups to veto the bill. After deliberation, he signed the bill Monday. I’m convinced there is no boogeyman in this good legislation. By the way, that same far right group has now decided that FedNow is the devil. I’m not sure how these people sleep with all the conspiracy theories bouncing around in their heads.

HB 1107 – this bill was brought forth by the Appraiser Board and relates to regulation of appraisers. Our primary concern with this bill was to make sure that it exempts the Bank of North Dakota (BND) and its evaluation and appraisal review business from oversight of the Appraiser Board. Through amendments brought by ICBND, we achieved that in the House. It was then heard in the Senate Workforce Development Committee a few weeks ago to a full crowd. The Appraiser Board testified in support of the bill but continues to express concerns with the BND exemption. The North Dakota Appraiser Association (NDAA) offered amendments that would allow appraisers to do evaluations. Lise Kruse from the DFI offered another amendment that would prohibit extension of the Appraiser Board’s oversight to evaluations. I testified on the bill supporting the amendments offered by NDAA and DFI. After much discussion, the Committee amended the bill so that ICBND’s original amendment carving out BND reads “review of appraisals” rather than “appraisal review”. BND, ICBND and the DFI were fine with that change. The Committee did not accept the appraiser’s proposed amendment which would allow appraisers to do evaluations. The amended bill received a 6-0 “do pass” recommendation last week and passed 46-0 on the Senate floor Wednesday. We spent way more time than I would have ever dreamed on this bill, but it’s finally done!

HB 1285 – this bill was not originally on our tracking list but became of interest after it passed the House. The bill would basically prohibit state agencies from prefiling policy bills without having a legislative sponsor. While that originally seemed harmless enough, I now recognize that it might create undue burdens when we are trying to work with agencies such as the Bank of North Dakota or the Department of Financial Institutions on policy bills. Finding a legislator and getting them up to speed will unnecessarily complicate that process. Prefiled bills still go through the same committee and floor process that any other bill does so I don't see the existing process as an "end run". The bill was heard in the Senate State and Local Government Committee this morning with several agency heads opposing the bill. In a meeting yesterday with Governor Burgum and other business lobbyists, he expressed his disdain for this bill. I don't blame him. The Committee did not act yet.

HB 1487 – is the gun and ammunition tracking bill that would prohibit specific tracking of gun and ammunition purchases. This would broadly apply to entities including financial institutions and others in the payment card chain. On the House side, we testified in opposition to the original bill as it was problematic to community banks. The bill was amended in the House to our satisfaction and passed. Wednesday, it was heard in the Senate Judiciary Committee and further amendments were offered by Representative Koppelman that improved the bill further in our opinion. I testified neutral on the bill in Committee. As further amended, the Senate Judiciary Committee gave the bill a "7-0" do pass recommendation and re-referred it to Senate Appropriations as the Attorney General's office has added a fiscal note that it deems necessary to investigate potential claims.

HB 1499 – is Representative Shannon Roers Jones bill to provide an interest rate buydown for purchases of primary residences. We didn't formally oppose this bill in the House, but we weren't disappointed when it got watered down to a study and passed out of the House. I just don't believe it's the government's job to try to intervene when we see fluctuations in markets. On the Senate side, Industry and Business Committee Chair Doug Larsen seemed initially to want to resurrect the concept. Ultimately, however, it was left as a study and received a 5-0 "do pass" recommendation on Tuesday. The full Senate, in my humble opinion, wisely defeated the bill 13-34 yesterday.

HB 1503 – is the second of the three problematic bills prohibiting foreign ownership. More specifically, it prohibits ownership of real property and commercial assets by foreign adversaries and calls for a comprehensive Legislative Management Study. The bill was heard in the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee last week. The Committee recommended a "do not pass" on the bill by a 5-0 vote. This bill was killed 2-45 in the Senate Monday. SB 2371 will be the surviving foreign ownership prohibition bill and will be worked on in Committee next week.
