

Legislative Update April 19, 2019

SECTION 1: GENERAL

Today marks Legislative Day 71 of the 66th Legislative Assembly of North Dakota. Leadership holds on to hope that the session can wrap up a week from today which would save up to four days of the allotted 80 days. Next week will be a flurry and we shall see if they're able to adjourn sine die before the weekend.

North Dakota Senators solidified plans for asking voters to make it more difficult to amend the state's constitution on Monday. By a vote of 31-15, the Senate gave final approval to a resolution that gives the legislature input on constitutional amendments that voters propose by petition and approve at the ballot box. Voters will decide in 2020 whether the resolution becomes law.

The resolution that's going to the ballot would require successful initiated constitutional amendments to be considered by the legislature before being enacted. If lawmakers were to turn down the proposal, it would go back on the ballot and voters could then override the legislature's decision. To me, it seems way too easy to get an initiated measure passed in North Dakota. But this is certainly a slippery slope. It will be interesting to see what the citizens of our state feel about this resolution.

I've written ad nauseum this session about the various proposals to utilize the earnings of the Legacy Fund. So, why stop now! While the dust certainly hasn't settled, here's what I think the horizon looks like. The House's plan to buy down individual and corporate state income taxes over a ten-year period utilizing half of the Legacy Fund earnings still doesn't seem plausible to get through the Senate. It seems the only significant aspects of Governor Burgum's plan to utilize $300 million of the Legacy Fund earnings that had a chance to survive was the Teddy Roosevelt Presidential Library and Museum which sought $50 million. However, recent amendments to the governor's office budget bill approved by the Senate seem to throw cold water on that Legacy Fund idea as well. The measure which passed the Senate 34-13 Wednesday still provides funding mechanisms for the legacy project while still requiring the $100 million match.

The amended bill proposes a combination of funds for the endowment, including $10 million from previously allocated funding for the library and $5 million from the ending balance of the 2017-2019 general fund, as well as a BND loan authorized for $35 million. While no Legacy Funds were included, Senate Majority Leader Wardner did not rule out repayment of the debt from Legacy Funds. There was a great deal of philosophical debate on the issue with many questioning the priority of such a project. The House is struggling with some potential constitutionality issues with the amendments and conference committee meetings are carrying over into next week.

This all still begs the question; what about the Legacy Fund earnings? Well, it appeared that House Concurrent Resolution 3055 would be the mechanism this session to address the Legacy Fund earnings. It's probably a sound, measured approach, but it also kicks the can down the road by creating an interim study to address potential uses from the earnings from the state's Legacy Fund. The bill creates a special committee consisting of the minority and majority leaders from both chambers, finance and taxation committee chairs and appropriation chairs from both chambers, two members of the Legacy and Budget Stabilization Fund Advisory Board and the chair of Legislative Management. It passed the Senate 45-1 Thursday but the House this afternoon failed to concur with the Senate version so 3055 is off to conference committee. There's been some gnawing anxiety that the citizens of North Dakota are growing impatient in their desire for meaningful usage of the fund's earnings. It will be interesting to see if the end result of this resolution is enough to ward off an initiated measure.

SECTION 2: BILL UPDATES FROM ICBND “PRIORITY” TRACKING LIST

HB 1008 – is the budget bill for the Department of Financial Institutions. It was amended upwards in the Senate by $300,000 from the House version restoring the agency back to the 2015-2017 baseline budget. ICBND supported these amendments which ultimately were also approved by the full House on Wednesday by a vote of 65-25.

HB 1067 – relates to municipal bid requirements and is on its way to conference committee. Currently, a municipality may not issue bonds in an amount exceeding $100,000 without first advertising for bids. This nominal amount in code goes back to the 1970's. HB 1067, as introduced in the House, would have increased that nominal amount to $1 million. The House Political Subdivisions Committee amended the bill to $750,000 which passed the House on an 85-4 vote. In the Senate, the bill was amended back to the original $1 million and passed on a vote of 45-0. The House did not concur with the Senate's changes, but after conference committee, the House did ultimately accede to the Senate voting 65-26 to approve. This is a good bill for community banks which ICBND supported.

HB 1106 – is the insurance department's bill to create an invisible reinsurance pool to prop up the individual health insurance market and the 20,000 North Dakotans who rely on it. As amended, we support the bill as it exempts multi-employer welfare arrangements such as ND Banks Benefit Trust from the assessment. The bill was amended in the Senate and passed on a 46-1 vote. The House on Tuesday ultimately concurred 89-0 with the emergency clause and it was forwarded to the governor.

HB 1467 – was one of the bills addressing the roving grain buyer issue and the oversight of those and other grain, grain buying, and grain warehousing issues. Ultimately, the bill was turned into a study during the interim where the legislative management shall consider studying agricultural issues in the state including studying grain buyers, roving grain buyers, grain brokers, grain handling facilities and other related issues. The bill passed the Senate 45-0 in late March and Monday was approved by the House on an 83-8 vote.

SB 2346 – is the other bill addressing grain buying and handling and would move the authority over grain, grain buyers, warehousing, deposits, and warehousemen from the public service commissioner to the agriculture commission. The bill also provides for a grain indemnity fund for credit sales transactions. It was significantly amended in the House by a 80-13 vote and went back to the Senate who refused to concur with the changes on Monday. The bill remains in conference committee with the next meeting scheduled for Monday.
